Silvio Muraglia new President of Production

Silvio Muraglia has joined the Paradox Entertainment executive team as President of Production. A respected international producer and television executive, he possesses extensive knowledge of both the European and the American entertainment industries and film markets. His most recent project was ?Reasonable Doubt?, a co-production between Paradox Entertainment and Bavariapool, starring Dominic Cooper and Samuel L. Jackson.

Muraglia was Vice President at RAI, Italian Television Network and President of Quinta Communications USA, a Silvio Berlusconi/Credit Agricole company and a producer under a three year exclusive deal with USA Network. He previously held a producer's deal with Bavariapool, a company owned by Telepool and the Bavaria Film Studios, to develop a co-production slate of projects and he is a partner and shareholder of CineFinance Italia, an Italian company active in Italian co-productions. In total, Silvio Muraglia's entertainment industry career spans two decades as a television and motion picture executive.

"Silvio brings a very high level of expertise in international co-productions. With the expansion of our slate this year he is a welcome addition to our team and we all welcome him to the Paradox family," said President and CEO Fredrik Malmberg.
